

CAREX REKOHU SUNRISE

KEY FEATURES

- The first-ever variegated form of Carex trifida
- Named in reference to the Chatham Islands where it was found – also known as Rēkohu by the Moriori people. Rekohu means 'misty sun'
- Forms a medium sized, fountain-like, tuft of robust foliage
- Broad leaves with wide golden margins
- Tolerant of a wide range of conditions, including extreme coastal, damp and windy locations
- Ideal for mass planting on exposed coastal sites or wetland areas, adding colour highlights to garden borders or a bold splash of colour to a mixed container planting.
- 0.6m x 0.5m

waimea
PLANT PROPAGATION

KiwiFlora
International